Education and Research in Mediterranean Biosphere Reserves

Are you a professor, researcher or student of the American University of Beirut (Lebanon), Saint Joseph University of Beirut (Lebanon), Mohammed V University of Rabat (Morocco) or Cadi Ayyad University of Marrakech (Morocco)?

The Erasmus+ Edu-BioMed project can finance your research or education projects, field work, thesis work, research and study visits, courses, trainings, internships or conferences in the context of Mediterranean Biosphere Reserves.

Biosphere Reserves are recognized under the auspices of UNESCO MAB Programme as 'Science for Sustainability support sites', special places for testing interdisciplinary approaches to understanding and managing changes and interactions between social and ecological systems

Mobility Opportunities can last up to 3 months

The amount of the fellowship is set by the Erasmus+ CBHE Programme, and covers costs for stay and travel costs

WRITE TO info@edubiomed.eu and VISIT www.edubiomed.eu for more information!

Eligible Candidates have until 15th February 2022 to submit their applications for mobilities taking place until 14th March 2022

Edu-BioMed aims at build capacity of Moroccan and Lebanese universities in the field of interdisciplinary sustainability studies, using Biosphere Reserves as object of inquiry
