

Event Report

Name of the event: Mediterranean Mobility Matters

Type of event: Webinar organized in the framework of the Erasmus Days 2020

Date: October 15, 2020

Number of participants: 23

Type of participants: Universities of the Mediterranean region, Students (2), Research Institutes (1), Ministry of Education representatives (1)

Attachments: Link to the webinar recording + agenda of the meeting

Brief overview of the event and of the issues addressed in the event

This webinar was organized by UNIMED under the umbrella of the Erasmus Days 2020. The main focus was the mobility of students and staff in the South-south dimension.

Together with the Edu-BioMed project it was also showcased the project DIRE-MED Dialogue Interculturel, Reseaux et Mobilité en MEDiterranée and UNIMED initiatives and work on the topic of the Mobility.

The main focus of the webinar was the mobility, UNIMED activities and initiatives of this topic, as UNIMED Petition for a Mediterranean Erasmus Generation, the experience and the recommendations issued at regional level by the project DIRE-MED which has just ended, the experience of EduBioMed project and its integration of the mobility within the project implementation.

Contribution of the participant partners

Mr. Antonio Bontempi, project Manager of Edu-BioMed showcased the project (description, partners, objectives).

Within the chat of the webinar were shared the link to the project website and the link to the video-interviews to students done by the University Mohammed V during their mobility period in Morocco.

Key messages, outcomes, recommendations

Mobility is an important topic in the region.

Within Edu-BioMed Project, the mobility is North-South / South-North / South-South and not only University towards University, but even University towards NGOs.